

The image shows the interior of a restaurant. The upper portion of the wall is covered in light-colored vertical wood paneling. Numerous terracotta-colored pendant lamps of various sizes and shapes are suspended from the ceiling. Two square, perforated metal light fixtures are mounted on the wall. Below the wood paneling is a long wooden bench with a white, textured fabric backrest featuring small, colorful embroidered patterns. In the foreground, several wooden tables are arranged, accompanied by white metal chairs with wicker seats. The overall atmosphere is warm and rustic.
